Christel
Marott Zodiac

Christel Marott (1919-1992)

The twelve different zodiac signs radiate strength, pride, grace but also a little mystery.

Their elegant body language and facial expressions illustrate the characteristics that each zodiac sign stands for.

The series was created by the Danish artist Christel Marott. Christel's well-known line can easily be found in the soft shapes of the figures.

Christel Marott (1919-1992) was a recognized Danish artist who, among other things, illustrated for Danish and foreign weekly and fashion magazines, e.g. She provided illustrations for the weekly horoscope over many years.

During Christel's stay in Rome, she became seriously interested in astrology and in 1979 the first zodiac signs for Søndags-BT were drawn and the last versions were illustrated 10 years later. For the next 16 years (1979-1995), Christel's zodiac sign was used as an illustration for the weekly horoscope in Søndags-BT.

Astrology and artistic abilities were further united in a series of zodiac sculptures from the hand of Christel Marott. They have subsequently become an attractive gift item.

Today, it is grandson Christoffer Marott who is behind the relaunch of his grandmother's popular and successful works.

Christel Zodiacs are produced in polyresin, then subsequently painted. If exposed to direct sunlight, the figurine may change color.
